Title- Disability History Month: Accessibility in Higher Education

Disability History Month takes place from November 16th to December 16th, 2023.

During Disability History Month we take a look at how people with disabilities have been treated in the past.

The theme for 2023 is 'Disability, Childhood, and Youth.'

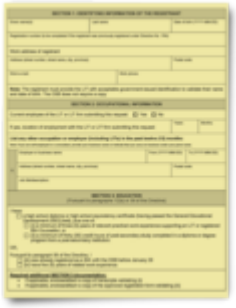

Many UK Universities are trying to make education better for people with disabilities. They say they are proud of helping disabled students.

However, not many students with disabilities go to university. Some feel that it is still not accessible.

We need to make education more accessible for people with disabilities.

Thank you for reading!